NEW GORELL WINDOW SERIES OFFERS CONTEMPORARY STYLING, CLEAN SIGHTLINES AND MORE SECURE FRAMES.

INDIANA, PA, July 29, 2008—Gorell Windows & Doors has introduced its newly designed 5100 Series line of windows, which have been re-engineered to provide an enhanced appearance, higher energy efficiency, greater security and easier installation. The new 5100 Series windows feature stylish recessed locks that are invisible to the eye from the exterior and give homeowners a less obstructed view of the outdoors from inside. The new windows provide superb security because of new heavy-duty locks and unique metal lock keepers fastened perpendicularly to the meeting rails so they can't be sheared off like most other keepers. A larger, more contoured integral lift rail allows for easier operation of the windows and is built to stand up to regular, everyday use.

5100 Series windows also incorporate a more substantial sill design that provides exceptional strength and rigidity. The bottom sash latches securely onto the sill for a tight seal that yields improved thermal performance and makes installation easier. An additional row of multi-fin weather stripping at the interlock creates a nearly airtight seal and a higher interior sill ensures better water performance—without decreasing the amount of daylight the window provides.
